

Shailesh Kshatriya

Associate Director, Client Investment Strategies

Shailesh “Shay” is an associate director, client investment strategies for Russell Investments Canada within the Canadian strategy group based in Toronto. His primary responsibilities are to create and disseminate capital market insights aimed to help clients better understand the investment landscape as well as Russell’s investment management process. Shay provides expert analysis on specific market and financial strategy issues working with individual clients as well as Russell teams serving clients.

Shay has authored, as well as co-authored, several articles which have appeared in Russell publications in Canada as well as Russell globally. Shay has also been quoted in various publications such as the Globe & Mail, Toronto Star, National Post, among others.

Shay joined Russell in 2005 as an investment analyst in Russell’s New York City office where he worked within the U.S. institutional analytics group.

Prior to Russell, Shay worked for Brown Brothers Harriman & Co., also in New York City. His most recent position there was as portfolio analyst within their private wealth management group; working with clients on investment strategy and asset allocation issues.

B.S., Finance, Rutgers University, 1998